

Form for declaration and consent – without NemID

Duty of disclosure

You are obliged to provide information in the matter and to notify Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration immediately of any changes in the information provided which may affect your entitlement to the benefits.

By applying, you consent to Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration obtaining information from employers, unemployment funds, local authorities and other public authorities in Denmark and abroad.

The application must be sent to Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration so that we can determine whether your child is entitled to child or youth benefits from Denmark, or whether you are entitled to any benefits for your child from another country.

You must provide the information necessary to enable Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration to determine which benefit you are entitled to. If you do not provide the information needed for Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration to process your application, your case will be processed on the basis of the information we already have. Potentially, this may mean that the benefits which are paid out to you are lower than what you applied for.

Payouts

If you are entitled to child and youth benefits from Denmark, the benefits will be paid out via your personal bank account (NemKonto). You must therefore open a NemKonto if you do not already have one.

Duty of disclosure

You must notify us immediately of any changes that have an impact on your right to receive child and youth benefits, including changes in your or your child's family situation. For example, it makes a difference if you move to another country, or if the child is being maintained by means of public benefits. You must also let us know if you get a job in another country or stop working in Denmark.

Repayment

If you provide incorrect information or fail to inform us of relevant changes, you may be required to repay the child and youth benefits. If you, through gross negligence or intentionally, provide incorrect or misleading information, the courts may impose a fine under section 144 of the Danish Act on Udbetaling Danmark (Lov om Udbetaling Danmark), or you may be liable to a fine or imprisonment under section 7 of the Danish Child and Youth Benefit Act (Lov om børne- og ungedydelse) or under the provisions set out in the Danish Criminal Code (Straffeloven).

Checks by Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration

To establish whether you are entitled to specific benefits, Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration may, without your consent, obtain and compile necessary non-sensitive personal data from other public authorities and unemployment funds. Compilation may take place with data from Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration's own registers. If the compilation reveals information that is necessary for the checking carried out by the municipalities, Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration is required to disclose such information to the municipality. The municipality and Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration may, without your consent, exchange information for use in connection with adjustments, recalculations, deductions or setoffs or for performing other types of follow-up and for checking cases of misuse in relation to the payment of benefits.

If necessary for processing a case on the repayment of benefits, Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration may, without your consent, obtain information from other authorities, employers, banks etc. The municipality has access to business premises in order to check the salary payments on which social or occupational benefits are based.

If, in this context, the municipality obtains information which is important for Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration's checking of whether there has been any cases of misuse in relation to payouts and benefits, the municipality must disclose this information to Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration.

Registration

You have the right to know what information Udbetaling Danmark – the Public Benefits Administration has registered about you. You may demand that we correct any incorrect information.
